Petition to have the right for screen-free Early Childhood programs, Kindergarten and elementary schools

Please sign here, so that teachers, educators and parents may decide for themselves up to which age educational institutions need to be screen-free. Educators and teaching personal need to choose for themselves with which media they want to work and instruct and when they find it educationally meaningful to use digital media to assist in the learning process. We need to have the right to a screen-free early childhood, Kindergarten and elementary school. Educational politics would do well to accept alternatives to the planned complete coverage of digital technology. Body, soul and spirit need for their development real world learning- and educational experiences. That is why Apple founder Steve Jobs had his own children in a Waldorf school.
